

Writing Workshops for Primary Teachers

We are all apprentices in a craft where no one ever becomes a master. —Ernest Hemingway

How We Write

focus -- teaching the writing process with a one-sentence composition

Wednesday, October 17, 2018

During this workshop, you will learn how to teach the writing process and the vocabulary of writing in six anchor lessons that include modeling, guided practice, and anchor charts.

Alice will show you how students can work with one-sentence compositions to

- 1) Plan a first draft
- 2) Develop the draft
- 3) Revise the draft
- 4) Edit the draft
- 5) Publish

These anchor lessons lay a foundation for writing instruction and easily blend into any writing program.

You can leave this workshop with the outline for your unit for writing process.

Small Writing

focus -- teaching writing using bite-sized composition chunks and mentor texts

Thursday, December 6, 2018

This is a DATE CHANGE

During this workshop, Alice Nine will show you how to use four powerful sentence writing strategies to develop student composition skills.

The small writings contain structural components found in all writing. The thinking habits, craft moves, and editing learned when writing small will lift the level of all student writing and bridge all genre.

Alice will show you how to use

- BaDa... Sentences
- Zoom-In / Zoom-Out
- Pitchforking
- Ape the Authors

These strategies can easily be incorporated into any writing program.

They also can be used for writing in core subjects, i.e., science, math, social studies.

Both workshops are designed for primary grades and align with Strand 6 in the "new" ELAR TEKS.

Growing Strong Writers with Alice Nine

... is a series of workshops attentive to the importance of daily writing practice, to the complex demands of learning English, and to the cultivation of love for writing. These workshops offer super simple, step-by-step, no nonsense, can-use-it-tomorrow routines and strategies.

Workshops are interactive with teachers doing the work of a student to experience the routines themselves, to learn routine procedures, and to expand personal knowledge. Alice also shares practical ideas for adapting routines to meet diverse student needs and the demands of writing across core curriculum.

Some of the Growing Strong Writer workshop titles are Crafting Sentences, Morning Pages, Small Writing, Small Craft Moves, How We Write, Sentence Combining, Writing Poetry.
